AAPM&R Future Leaders Program - Opportunities for Support

The Future Leaders Program (formerly the Academy Leadership Program) is a 2-year immersive program that trains emerging member leaders and helps prepare them to lead the Academy and the specialty. Support the Leadership Fellows and the future of the specialty!

Program Goals

- Identify and train future leaders
- Immerse participants in the culture of volunteerism at the Academy
- Connect participants with strong Academy leaders in mission-critical roles

Curriculum

Expert program facilitators take participants through a two-year curriculum that introduces them to association leadership, strategic planning, media skills, advocacy, and Academy governance, products and services. The curriculum combines facilitated sessions, reading assignments, peer discussion, and mentorship to help hone leadership skills.

"This has been a great opportunity to gain a deeper understanding of the careful thought processes and collaboration necessary to define new opportunities and goals for the Academy as it leads the specialty in the evolving health care environment. It is a very inspiring experience to see a group of people come together that are so passionate about the specialty and the Academy." – Current fellow participant

"This is truly an opportunity of a lifetime to help define the future of PM&R with the leaders of our field. As a young physiatrist, you get to make personal connections with our Academy's leaders and make decisions that will impact the future of our specialty." – Current fellow participant
