What is the Resident Bootcamp?

The Resident Bootcamp is a 3-hour workshop that will be held for residents to review various clinical topics that the AAPM&R Physiatrist in Training (PHiT) Council Board have identified as areas of variable exposure in residency programs. Each of the topics will be reviewed by faculty who are viewed nationally as clinical experts in that clinical area. This will have a 40-minute rotating station format, with a break between each station. Residents/fellows will be split up into 4 groups and will rotate through each station, gaining hands-on experience with each of the topics.

Clinical Topics Include:

- Ultrasound of nerves
- Chemodenervation dosing and differences between different medications
- Upper and lower extremity prosthetics and orthotics
- Evidence-based physical exam maneuvers

Faculty List:

- Marc P. Gruner, DO, MBA, RMSK (Session Director)
- Stephanie Tow, MD (Session Director)
- Atul T. Patel, MD, MHSA, FAAPMR
- Jeffrey Strakowski, MD
- Scott R. Laker, MD, FAAPMR
- Katharine E. Alter, MD, FAAPMR
- Monica Verduzco-Gutierrez, MD, FAAPMR
- Blaise Pascale
- Rebecca Speckman, MD, PhD
- John Fergason, CPO, LPO

Nonclinical Career Options for Psychiatrists

Kerrie M. Reed, MD, FAAPMR and Elizabeth Varghese-Kroll, MD, FAAPMR (Course Directors)

Tuesday, October 23 - Wednesday, October 24

8:00 am – 5:00 pm

Psychiatrists who want to augment their current practice or continue to use their medical knowledge to work in a professional setting outside of patient care have a variety of options. This course is geared towards psychiatrists with world-renowned faculty introducing participants to the broad range of alternative career paths available to psychiatrists interested in drastically changing career direction and/or simply diversifying their practice. It will cover areas still connected to clinical medicine (e.g., telemedicine), some more removed from medicine (e.g., financial industry), as well as several hybrids (e.g., medico-legal, disability reviews, etc.), and will help you identify what options will work best for your personal interests and needs. By attending this course, you will be better prepared and equipped to make decisions regarding alternative career opportunities that are best suited for you, by expanding your awareness and talking with experts of nonclinical career options.

Upon completion of this activity, participants will be able to:

- Recognize the various alternative career opportunities available to them in order to augment their current practice or change their professional setting all together.
- Identify areas of interest outside their clinical settings and link them to potential career opportunities.
- Compare and evaluate their current career path against alternative paths to design a path that is specific to their needs and goals.
