

Early Career and Resident Education Series

Newly revamped program dedicated to providing quality education specific to PM&R Residents and Early Career physicians.

Early Career and Resident Education Series

AAPM&R is developing a comprehensive, accessible, and engaging online educational program for physical medicine and rehabilitation (PM&R) residents and early-career physiatrists. Key features include:

- Live webinars with experts in PM&R
- Interactive case studies describing practical patient encounters
- On-demand learning, including didactic presentation on clinical techniques, such as joint injections and spinal cord injury rehabilitation
- Peer discussions and networking opportunities
- Mentorship options to foster long-term professional relationships
- Support opportunities will be available including participation in webinar discussions, pre-activity ad placement, and more.
